Awards

We will be holding a virtual awards assembly on a Friday afternoon in school via Zoom. We will publish the award winners on here the following Monday.

If your child has any home awards that you would like to share, please send in details and a photo (e.g. trophy) if you would like them shared as part of the Zoom assembly with the children as we limit things going back and forth between schools.

These need to be in by Thursday at 3.15pm for assembly the next day.

The Reading Raffle will still take place as I know how much the children enjoy it. If your child has read 4 times at home over the week, (Friday – Thursday) we will gather names at Thursday evening pick-up or you can email in. Names must be in by the end of the day on Thursday. The reading can be their reading books, Reading Eggs or another home book.

From Mrs Busari

Firstly, a huge welcome to Miss Rees who has joined us as the class teacher in Class 2. Miss Rees is a very experienced teacher and we are really pleased she has joined the Cosgrove family. I am sure you and the children will join the staff in making her feel welcome to the team. It was lovely to see the children back in school last week. To see their smiles and rekindling friendships in class has been fantastic.

We also welcome our new reception and two children joining us in class 2 and 3. We welcome you all to the Cosgrove family.

There are lots of new routines that we all have to get used to and we all really appreciate your patience whilst these get up and running and staff get used to new ways of working. We have spent hours planning and risk assessing everything, but it is not until the children come in that we see how new planned procedures work, we will adapt them if needed. In effect we are building the plane as we fly it! Thank you so much for all the positive comments and emails that came through last week, your support and patience is much appreciated.

Homework Update

We will be meeting as a staff team this week to discuss homework and the different online portals that families now have access to (Reading Eggs, Class Dojo and Mathletics)

Reading books have now been sent home and should be kept at home until the changeover day. If your child reads with an adult in school, we will use books from the appropriate stage and keep a record in school.

Spellings will begin to go home this week. These will be posted on Class Dojo and sent home on paper too.

As we approach cold season we anticipate that there will be children absent with colds. Please keep school updated if your child is absent. If your child is displaying any coronavirus symptoms we ask you to arrange a test to be sure that it is just a seasonal cold. The symptoms are – a new persistent dry cough, a raised temperature and a change or loss of taste or smell.

This afternoon the children will be having a virtual assembly via Zoom and linking up with the Ashton children to say hello which we hope to do each Monday.

I hope you all have a lovely week in school and I look forward to seeing you out on the playground.

With best wishes

Jude Busari
